SENATE VOTE ON NAVY SHOWS BIG STICK IDEA

Declines to Accept Coolidge's Pleas for Abatement of Navy Building

WON'T WAIT FOR PARLEY

If Armament Conference Fails - U. S. Navy Will Gain Time by Construction

Washington—The same senate of the United States which a few days ago adopted a resolution favoring arbitration of the dispute with Mexico has gone over to the use-of-force theory of government by declining to accept President Coolidge's plea for abatement of navy building until he could reach an agreement with other naval powers.

The amount of money involved is relatively small—only $1,200,000—but the principle behind it is of far-reaching significance. If the senate's enthusiasm for armament has been interpreted as a symptom of pacifism, the action of the majority in voting to begin construction on three cruisers now may be interpreted to mean that Uncle Sam may speak softly but he still relies on the "big stick" of Rooseveltian days.

MR. COOLIDGE managed to save the situation in the house of representatives through the eloquent plea of Representative Burton of Ohio, who pleaded against a return to the jingoistic idea of international intercourse. But the senate took the view that inasmuch as the building of the three cruisers had been authorized, the expenditure of $1,200,000 to begin construction this year would not affect the world situation and would gain time for the American navy in the event that President Coolidge failed to convince the other governments of the necessity of limiting armament.

It is a foregone conclusion, however, that once having spent $1,200,000 to start construction, congress will be committed to keeping up the appropriations each year till the three cruisers are finished. But at any time that an international agreement is reached, work can be suspended, a provision to this effect has been approved.

VIEWS IN SENATE

In analyzing the vote of those who favored the cruiser program some will be found from shipbuilding states who naturally want the navy yards kept going. In other instances, the practical aspects of the problem made an efficient appeal for having authorized construction, several senators felt it was inconsistent to refuse to spend the money to build the vessels.

The president has been placed in the position of being thwarted by a senate in a circumstance that will be used by his opponents to argue that his prestige is on the wane. The battle therefore will come in the house of representatives when the conference report is presented.

It would not be surprising if the house members changed their votes and accepted the senate's report. It all depends on whether Mr. Coolidge wishes to make the issue a real test of strength.

Senate Moves For Vote On Farm And Bank Bills

Washington—(AP)—A move to shut off debate on both the McNary-Haugen and the McFadden Branch banking bills was initiated Thursday in the senate.

The necessary petition to invoke the cloture rule was circulated by Senator Gooding, Republican, Idaho, a leader of the farm group, and was signed rapidly by supporters of both measures.

A two-thirds vote will be necessary to cut off debate under this rule but senate leaders said there would be no difficulty in obtaining signatures of two-thirds of the senators.

CATTLE AND SWINE MEN HOLD STAGE AS CONFERENCE ENDS

Missourian Pays High Tribute to Wisconsin Experiment Association

Madison—(AP)—Cattle and swine experts will wind up a busy week Friday when the curtain drops on Farm and Home-makers' Week.

The concluding program for the livestock men will include a discussion of marketing, feeding and disease prevention in swine while dairy cattle feeding experiments will be conducted at the university cattle barn.

P. B. Hansen, field representative of the Wisconsin Live Stock and Meat Improvement Council, and J. M. Farago, swine specialist at the University of Wisconsin, will speak before swine breeders and feeders. Sanitation in the hog-lot will be reviewed by H. G. Brant, animal husbandman at the University of Wisconsin. Round worm, he believes, is one of the greatest menaces to profits in the swine industry.

DEMONSTRATE FEEDING

Following the swine conference, F. B. Morrison and J. V. Ruess of the animal husbandry staff will conduct a demonstration at the University dairy cattle barn on the results of feeding trials with dairy cattle. Frank Kleinheinz will talk to the visitors on Sheep Production in Wisconsin.

A conference relating to diseases of cattle will be held in the afternoon at Agricultural Hall.

Describing the Wisconsin Experiment association as an organization which has enabled farmers to make "two blades of grass grow where one grew before," A. J. Meyer of the University of Missouri Thursday declared the association had been an important factor in demonstrating the practicability of farm efficiency.

DISLIKES BROKERS; FORD REJECTS OFFER

Automobile Magnate Says Company Will Never Be Sold to Wall Street

New York—(AP)—Henry Ford's refusal of $1,000,000,000 for his automobile business was regarded in financial circles Thursday as further evidence of his antipathy to Wall Street.

Ford's refusal of the billion dollar offer was given by John M. Prentiss at a hearing in Washington Wednesday in the government's $30,000,000 tax suit against former minority stockholders of the Ford company.

The offer was refused three times, the last refusal being a month ago.

Wall Street circles recalled that even in the "deflation" of 1921 when Mr. Ford was pinched for cash, he declined assistance from New York bankers.

At that time there was a veritable procession of bankers to him. One of them was handed his hat, the story goes.

Ford's company has been a big lender of call money in Wall Street through banks in which he deposits, but there is no record of purchases or sales by him through the stock exchange.

"My company will never go to Wall Street," Henry Ford has said. Stock of the Ford Motor Co. is not available on any market.

St. Paul—(AP)—Mike Sandretti, Ironwood, Mich., and Vincent Daghino, Hurley, Wis., charged with conspiracy to violate the Mann act, were found guilty by a jury in United States district court here Wednesday. They will be sentenced Thursday.

Probe Charges Of Negro Slavery In Mississippi

New Orleans—(AP)—Black slavery, comparable to that which existed in post-bellum times, was the object of an extended investigation by department of justice agents. The indictment Wednesday of Webb Bellus and John D. Alford, of Amiteco, Mississippi, on charges of abduction, sale and enslavement of five Negroes, is to be followed by disclosure of peonage in St. Helena and Tangipahoa parishes in Louisiana, if evidence now in the hands of the United States district attorney here proves substantial.

Alford and Bellus were indicted on testimony that they had taken from the home of Crawford Allen, 60-year-old Negro, near the Louisiana border, in Amiteco, last August, seeking his grown daughter. When they failed to find the woman, according to the indictment, they forced Allen, who was ill, to get out of bed and accompany them to a farm at Fluker, La. They also forced his wife and three children, all under 12 years of age, to accompany them. The Negroes were taken at night and hurried from their home half-dressed.

The family was sold for $20, department of justice agents charge, and was forced to work several weeks without pay and with little food. An armed guard watched the Negroes.

Investigation of the case has revealed the existence of peonage conditions under which other Negroes are held in a state of virtual enslavement, officials said.

EXPECT DRIVE ON SHANGHAI BY CANTONESE

Sun Chuan-Fang, Defender of City, Denies Readjustment of His Line

Washington, D. C.—(AP)—A force of 250 American marines will leave Cavite, Philippine islands Friday for Shanghai, China.

Admiral Williams as commander of the Asiatic fleet has been given discretion in the movement of American naval forces in the Orient, informed the navy department Thursday that arrangements had been completed for sending the force to Shanghai on the naval auxiliary Pecos.

The detachment will be made up partly from marines now at Cavite, and partly from the marine command now aboard the naval auxiliary Gold Star, due to arrive at Cavite Friday from Guam.

COMPLETE FORCE

Twelve officers and 160 men will be taken by Pecos from the Gold Star and three officers and 91 men will be taken from the Cavite shore station, making a total force of 15 officers and 251 men.

A navy department announcement said that "it may be assumed that the Pecos will depart for Shanghai as soon as the transfer of personnel can be effected from the Gold Star to the Pecos."

LOOK FOR DRIVE

Shanghai—(AP)—Pressure of the Cantonese forces which shortly are expected to launch a drive on Shanghai, one of the richest prizes in China from a military standpoint, has forced Marshal Sun Chuan-Fang, defender of the city, to withdraw the 10,000 men's army to Yenchow, 75 miles inland on the Tientsin river, to strengthen his position.

Although the readjustment in his line was denied at Sun's headquarters here, the move was confirmed by trustworthy foreign sources. Sun, however, has suffered nothing like a major defeat.

Other reports concerning Cantonese operations say they have received recent reinforcements in the Chinese river, the new troops probably being Hunanese, rated as the best in the southern armies.

SHANGHAI RICH PRIZE

These well informed on military matters believe that the Cantonese will find it most difficult to sweep Sun aside. Recent establishment of customs surtaxes amounting to 2 1/2 per cent on ordinary imports and 5 per cent on luxuries has made Shanghai a rich prize and it is a look-out upon a certain that Sun will fight desperately to retain control of the city.

Two earthquakes shook Shanghai Friday. Both of them were fairly severe and because such occurrences are unusual here the shocks rather alarmed the city. Fleeing missionaries from the interior continue to arrive.

Mrs. Frank Thalke Internally Injured When She Falls into River

Neenah—Mrs. Frank Thalke, 36, who was struck by a hoisting crane and knocked into the canal while crossing the canal bridge here Wednesday noon, died at 9:30 Thursday morning. Mrs. Thalke was injured internally when she struck a protruding beam as she fell into the river below the bridge.

The woman was crossing the bridge and crawled under the crane. She raised her head as she passed beneath the crane and was knocked into the water, her body striking the protruding timber. Her unconscious body was recovered from the river by George Seitz, who was crossing the bridge when the accident occurred.

Mrs. Thalke lived in Neenah practically all her life. She is survived by her widower, three children, Ruth, Dolores and Gilbert of Menasha, five sisters, Mrs. Henry Wendt and Mrs. Paul Schultz of Menasha, Mrs. William Diener of Neenah, Mrs. Clara Thayer of Detroit, Mich., and Mrs. Leo Wolf of Ottawa, Ill.

Stettin, Germany—(AP)—After cutting off the tip of his sweetheart's nose "to cure her of her inveterate habit of flirting in public," Martin Richter, a tradesman, went contentedly to jail and is there awaiting the young woman's recovery with fond hopes of a happy reunion.

Calmly he gave himself up to the police, declaring that after long reflection he had come to the conclusion that the only thing to ensure his future peace of mind would be the mutilation of his fiancée's attractive features. After serving his term, he hopes to marry Fraulein Zoelner and be happy.

ZONE LAW CHANGES KILLED BY 6 TO 5 VOTE IN COUNCIL

Planning Commission and Ordinance Committee Reports Are Upheld

Following a sharp discussion in which practically every alderman took part, the common council Wednesday night, by a vote of 6 to 5, adopted the recommendation of the ordinance committee to kill proposed ordinances establishing local business districts at the corner of S. Cherry and Seymour streets and the corner of W. Wisconsin-ave and N. Alvin-st. Immediately after the vote, Alderman J. H. Fiedler's resolution, requiring the zone commission to investigate the matter of establishing a section of Wisconsin-ave as a business district was adopted.

"I want to go on record as opposing the report of this committee," said Alderman R. P. McGiffin. "I have sneezed too long for many years and I have seen the plan of the building he wants to build. It is to be almost exactly as a modern dwelling and will be set back from the property line as the building inspector desires. He is willing to comply with the laws in every respect."

WITHIN HIS RIGHTS

"I have every reason to believe that he will do just as he says and serve only meals in this place. If any trouble should arise there we have a police department to care for that. It is getting so bad that a property owner in Appleton cannot build what he wants to on his own property? Is it getting so bad that we must refuse a permit to a man unless he will build a $25,000 residence to fit in with so-called 'super-residential' district as outlined by a few men?"

"I believe Mr. Loev is entirely within his rights in wanting to build a building that looks like a fine home and serve meals and I intend to vote to give him that right," Alderman McGiffin concluded.

"I think Alderman McGiffin doesn't realize what he will be voting for if he votes to grant this petition," declared Alderman C. D. Thompson. "We must realize that if we grant Mr. Loev a petition that we open the way for almost any kind of a business and most of us would not want to place a filling station at this point. In voting on this question we must vote as if turning down the worst that might happen."

IGNORE CITIZENS

"I have nothing against the zoning board or its decision but I would like to know whether the voters of this city are to be given no consideration on their petitions." Alderman Fred Wiese asked. "The citizens living in the immediate neighborhood of the proposed district on Wisconsin-ave have presented a petition favoring

FIGHT GETS O. K. OF COMMITTEE

Senate Passes Goodland's Bill to Protect State from Corn Borer

Madison—(AP)—Approval of Senator Hull's bill calling for a $750,000 appropriation for payment of indemnity to owners of cattle in the drive for tubercular eradication, was given by the joint finance committee of senate and assembly Thursday. Passage of the bill was recommended by the group.

Cattle owners, whose animals are or have been condemned as tubercular, would be reimbursed through the appropriation which would come as an emergency fund.

A step in combating the menace of the corn borer, was also taken by the senate when Senator Goodland's bill, prohibiting transportation into Wisconsin of fruit and grains carrying plant diseases, was passed by a substantial majority.

ASKS FOR ACTION

Sensor Goodland asked the senate to vote upon the bill Friday morning, contending that even a week's delay would have a detrimental effect upon Wisconsin grain products. "Indiana and Illinois are paying heavy toll for neglecting to stamp out the corn borer, and Wisconsin will be next unless we vote to cooperate with the department of agriculture in their work," he added. The bill was then withdrawn from the committee on agriculture and voted upon receiving almost unanimous acceptance.

The resolution by Senator Goodland requesting a committee investigation of the qualifications of Benjamin L. Davis as commissioner of agriculture, was the request of the senator, laid over for one week to be brought up again at the time of Davis' confinement.

ASK RESIGNATIONS

Another bill, calling for the resignation of the ex-officio members of the highway department, Professors Dean and Turneure, and introduced by Senator V. S. Keppel, Holmen, was laid over until Wednesday.

Sensor H. Southoff, Madison, who had presented a bill asking all highway contracts be held up, pending the highway commission investigation, asked the bill be held over one week. The request was granted.

Before adjournment, a number of members asked and received permission for a leave of absence for Friday's session. This brought forth a complaint from Senator B. R. Johnson, Superior. "There seems to be an agreement among members of this senate should work only three days each week," he argued. "There are too many absent, especially Fridays, and the absence of a quorum slows up our work. This ought to be stopped." No motion was made.

MARX PLEDGES FAITH TO GERMAN CONSTITUTION

Berlin—(AP)—The reichstag was thrown into wild disorder Thursday when Count Westarp, nationalist leader, attacked the declaration of policy of Chancellor Marx's new bourgeois coalition ministry, in which the nationalists are well represented.

Referring to the chancellor's statement that the government pledged faith to the constitution of the German republic, adopted at Weimar, Count Westarp declared the nationalists still held to their monarchial viewpoint.

They had not given up and did not intend to surrender any of their principles or ultimate programmatic aims. All they had agreed to in entering the cabinet were the conditions necessary for a practical political cooperative effort.

Berlin—(AP)—An unequivocal pledge of faith to the constitution and assurance that the foreign policy of international conciliation will remain unchanged, marked the governmental declaration read to the reichstag by Chancellor Marx Thursday on behalf of his new bourgeois coalition cabinet.

Declaration also promised important reforms in the reichswehr, or defense force, and announced an extensive program of financial business and school legislation.

REAL ESTATE MAN IS HELD FOR FRAUD

Faces Arraignment for Dealings Involving $49,995—Is Alleged Forger

Milwaukee—(AP)—J. Murray O'Brien, Milwaukee real estate operator involved in charges of fraudulent transactions aggregating $49,995, faced arraignment Thursday in district court.

O'Brien will be arraigned on one fraud charge involving $4,500, and on two charges of forgery, $18,000 and $40,995, respectively.

O'Brien said Thursday that he plans further charges of fraud against the man as the result of new disclosures. The real estate operator is said by the assistant prosecutor to admit each new disclosure of fraud.

The state charges that on at least two occasions O'Brien forged the name of Phil C. Westfall, register of deeds, to documents to establish title to property which he sold, and that on another occasion he forged the name of his counsel, Arthur H. Bartlett, Mr. Bartlett has withdrawn from the case as a result.

With the revelation of the transactions, additional complaints were received by the district attorney's office. Miss Mary Greenwald told Mr. Perry that her father, who is ill, had purchased mortgages totaling $18,000 from O'Brien forgeries. Nick Bruner complained he invested his life savings of $9,000 in mortgages which proved forgeries.

Leviton Says He Saw Nothing Wrong With Welcome Sign on His Door

BALLARD IS DEFIANT

But He Promises to Apologize to Race Mentioned in His Letter

Madison—(AP)—Clinton B. Ballard, state superintendent of public property, was severely criticised in the assembly Thursday for his letter to State Treasurer Solomon Leviton requesting removal of a "welcoming" sign on the door of the latter official's office.

The sign "Uncle Sol, your state treasurer, welcomes you," brought the statement from Ballard in a letter to Mr. Leviton that it resembled an "ad for a Jewish fire sale."

The assembly, after several bills were introduced Thursday morning, voted favorably on the resolution of Assemblyman Staab ordering the publisher of the property and the treasurer before a committee of the whole. Mr. Leviton, taking the clerk's stand after he had been greeted by a round of applause, explained that he had allowed the sign to be put up during the inauguration ceremonies, last month and that since it was "a nice sign" he had left it upon the back door of his office.

NOTHING WRONG WITH SIGNS

"The man who suggested the sign was not even one of my race," he said. "I saw nothing wrong with the sign, but obeyed the order of the superintendent of public property, because I did not desire to be involved in publicity about the sign."

Mr. Ballard then considered the sign beneath the dignity of a state official, but that he did said nothing about it until the assembly summoned him before it, because he was "used to insults."

The white haired state official was asked to bring the sign up to the assembly chamber, being greeted with another round of applause when he returned with it.

HUMOROUS ANGLES

Humorous angles of the situation were then injected by Assemblymen Schider and A. J. Miller, the former senator, who had been framed and placed in the Historical library, and Mr. Miller pointing out that "we have missed a good source of state revenue—we should have charged admission for this as it is as good as any vaudeville show ever produced."

Mr. Ballard then presented his side of the case saying it surprised him to learn that the legislature "is spending state time and money to look into a personal letter." He declared he had heard the statement that Governor Zimmerman was behind the letter, but

PARK BOARD LETS CONTRACT TO BUILD RECREATION HALL

Hegner Construction Co. Awarded Job on Its Bid of $22,800

The contract for building a recreation hall and band stand in Pierce park was awarded to the Hegner Construction company by the park commission. The structure is to cost about $22,800. Seven Appleton contractors submitted bids.

Work will be started as soon as weather permits, according to B. J. Zuehlke, member of the board, and the building is to be completed by July 1. The Hegner company estimated that the work will be finished about June 15.

The building is a part of the $50,000 improvement plan for this park. It is to be 100 feet long and 50 feet wide, one story high, with a basement for storing chairs and tables. The sides of the building are to be constructed so that they can be removed in the summer and replaced in winter. The type of building will contain rest rooms for men and women.

The floor of the building will be of concrete and the roof will be constructed with the modern thatched effect to give the building a rustic appearance and make it fit its surroundings. A revolving sound board is the most important feature of the new structure. This equipment will enable a band to give outdoor and indoor concerts. In case of rain on the night of a scheduled band concert, it will not be necessary to postpone the program. The revolving sound board is to be placed in the center of the building in one direction the music can be heard all over the park and when placed in another position the music will be focused within the building.

The building is said to be ideal for pageants and for any other type of entertainment. It will have a seating capacity of 1,000 and arrangements have been made to store all equipment connected with it in the basement. The building will be built in English country style.

Hegner Construction Co. Awarded Job on Its Bid of $22,800

The contract for building a recreation hall and band stand in Pierce park was awarded to the Hegner Construction company by the park commission. The structure is to cost about $22,800. Seven Appleton contractors submitted bids.

Work will be started as soon as weather permits, according to B. J. Zuehlke, member of the board, and the building is to be completed by July 1. The Hegner company estimated that the work will be finished about June 15.

The building is a part of the $50,000 improvement plan for this park. It is to be 100 feet long and 50 feet wide, one story high, with a basement for storing chairs and tables. The sides of the building are to be constructed so that they can be removed in the summer and replaced in winter. The type of building will contain rest rooms for men and women.

The floor of the building will be of concrete and the roof will be constructed with the modern thatched effect to give the building a rustic appearance and make it fit its surroundings. A revolving sound board is the most important feature of the new structure. This equipment will enable a band to give outdoor and indoor concerts. In case of rain on the night of a scheduled band concert, it will not be necessary to postpone the program. The revolving sound board is to be placed in the center of the building in one direction the music can be heard all over the park and when placed in another position the music will be focused within the building.

The building is said to be ideal for pageants and for any other type of entertainment. It will have a seating capacity of 1,000 and arrangements have been made to store all equipment connected with it in the basement. The building will be built in English country style.

FACE ARRANGEMENT FOR DEALINGS INVOLVING $49,995—IS ALLEGED FORGER

Milwaukee—(AP)—J. Murray O'Brien, Milwaukee real estate operator involved in charges of fraudulent transactions aggregating $49,995, faced arraignment Thursday in district court.

O'Brien will be arraigned on one fraud charge involving $4,500, and on two charges of forgery, $18,000 and $40,995, respectively.

O'Brien said Thursday that he plans further charges of fraud against the man as the result of new disclosures. The real estate operator is said by the assistant prosecutor to admit each new disclosure of fraud.

The state charges that on at least two occasions O'Brien forged the name of Phil C. Westfall, register of deeds, to documents to establish title to property which he sold, and that on another occasion he forged the name of his counsel, Arthur H. Bartlett, Mr. Bartlett has withdrawn from the case as a result.

With the revelation of the transactions, additional complaints were received by the district attorney's office. Miss Mary Greenwald told Mr. Perry that her father, who is ill, had purchased mortgages totaling $18,000 from O'Brien forgeries. Nick Bruner complained he invested his life savings of $9,000 in mortgages which proved forgeries.

FIND WAY AROUND DIFFICULTIES IN MASON-ST PAVING

Dividing Pier Under Viaduct
Will Remain Until City Has Money to Move It

Plans for paving S. Mason-st from W. College-ave to W. Prospect-ave were adopted at the meeting of the common council Wednesday evening. A group of property holders along the street attended the meeting and examined various plans prepared by the city engineer.

The plans adopted provide for paving the entire street but the Chicago and Northwestern railroad viaduct will remain as it is at present. The street car tracks, now on the west side of the pier beneath the bridge will pass on the east in the center of the street. On way traffic will be allowed on each side of the pier.

In this manner it will be possible to complete the paving this year and at any time within the next few years, when the city is financially able, the viaduct can be changed to permit removal of the pier which now divides the road. Some of the aldermen were opposed to adopting a plan that would include the dividing pier. However, it was pointed out that the city did not have available funds to improve the viaduct this year.

WANT QUICK ACTION
The property holders wanted the street paved this year and the plans were finally adopted. The council also authorized the board of public works to advertise for bids for the following improvements:

Pavement of Wisconsin-ave from N. Richmond to N. Mead-sts; pavement of S. Lawrence-st from the S. Channel-st to the canal; pavement of Jackson-st from the canal to Lawrence-st; pavement of Mead-st from W. Washington to W. North-st; pavement of W. Washington-st from N. Superior-st to the fair grounds; construction of approximately 200 feet of storm sewer on Lawrence court and approximately 1,400 feet of storm sewer on Wisconsin-ave N. Durkee to N. Mead-sts.

A petition opposing the pavement of W. Washington-st was presented but was placed on file. The report of the fire and water committee that action on the matter of a raise for the members of the fire department be deferred was approved. A similar report from the police and license committee regarding a raise for the members of the police department also was approved.

APPROVE REPORT
The report of the special citizen committee which investigated the M. T. Shaw, Inc., Racine shoe manufacturers was read and approved. Mr. T. Shaw was asked to come to Appleton for a meeting with the industrial committee of the common council. Mr. Shaw will be asked to state his situation regarding locating in Appleton. Following this meeting a public meeting will be called to discuss the matter.

The sum of $3,000 was authorized to pay for the Nelson snow loader which has arrived in the city but is being held at the depot on a C. O. D. charge. The order will be held up, however, until a demonstration has been given.

An application by John Kuth of Menasha, for a sewer diggers license was referred to the police and license committee.

BEGIN EXCAVATING FOR GEENEN STORE ADDITION

Excavation for the basement for the new 3-story addition to Geenen Dry Goods store was started Tuesday morning by the Hoffman Construction company. The addition will cost approximately $25,000. It is hoped to have the work completed by May 1.

By Drown-ee for $807.02 was referred to the judiciary committee.

A claim for illegal income taxes from the Appleton Wire Cloth and the Appleton Wire Works companies was referred to the judiciary committee.

Notices of payment of taxes paid under protest were read from the Outagamie State bank and the First Trust company.

Alderman Catlin moved that no bid, on vibrolithic pavement be called for this spring because of the bothersome methods used by the dealers selling this material in getting petitions from the tax payers along the streets to be paved. Mr. Catlin said he had received many complaints from people who are being bothered by representatives of various companies who try to get petitions asking the council to use the type of pavement sold by that company.

Mr. Catlin withdrew his motion after being shown that to forbid bids on vibrolithic concrete would little competition and cause the bids for reinforced concrete to be higher. The matter was finally left with the mayor.

To Make Pine Cough Syrup at Home

Has no equal for prompt results.
Takes but a moment to make.

Pine is used in nearly all prescriptions and remedies for coughs. The reason is, pine has a remarkable effect in soothing and healing the membranes of the throat and chest.

Pine cough syrups are combinations of pine and sugar. The "syrup" part is usually plain sugar syrup.

To make the best pine cough remedy that money can buy, put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex in a pint bottle, and fill up with home-made sugar syrup. Or you can use clarified honey, instead of sugar syrup. This makes a full pint—more than you can buy ready-made for three times the money. It is pure, and tastes good.

You can feel this take hold of a cough or cold in a way that means business. The cough may be dry, hoarse and light, or may be persistently loose from the formation of phlegm. The cause is the same—irritated membranes—and this Pinex and Syrup combination will stop it—usually in 24 hours or less. Splendid, too, for bronchial asthma, bronchitis, and hoarseness.

Pinex is a highly concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract and palatable guaracal, and is famous the world over for its prompt effect upon coughs.

Beware of substitutes. Ask your druggist for 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex with directions. Guaranteed to give absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

INSTALL NEW COATING MACHINE IN PLANT HERE

A new coating machine is being installed at the Appleton Coated Paper company plant this month, according to M. D. Weyenberg, superintendent. The machine will coat paper up to 48 inches in width. Other machines in the plant are 26, 70 and 90 inch machines. Formerly when orders for smaller size paper were received, it was necessary to run the paper through a large machine and consequently there was some loss.

It is expected that the machine, which was purchased from John Waldron company of East Brunswick, N. J., will be in operation within the next three weeks. It will not be necessary for the company to employ any help. It will not be in use at all times but will be used only to turn out special work.

Calls Tanlac "King of Medicines"

Ashland man wins six-year fight for health. Now well and strong as ever, he praises Tanlac.

Edward Burton is a millwright living at 1006 Vaughan Avenue, Ashland, Wis. He tells of his interesting experience.

"For a whole year," said Mr. Burton, "my stomach had gone back on me. It was a most distressing experience. Nothing seemed to agree with me; I lost all desire for food. A sound night's sleep was out of the question, so I rose each morning tired and peevish. Then constipation developed and made life a continuous misery. I lost weight and could hardly drag myself around a good deal of the time. After a year of that I was all in. I went from bad to worse, for nothing seemed to help me."

"I was very discouraged by then but tried Tanlac, which had helped several friends of my wife. That certainly did help. I soon began to get refreshing sleep again, to eat with old-time zest. The distressing stomach and liver troubles disappeared. Briefly Tanlac put me on my feet, with all my old-time vigor and enjoyment of life. After five bottles I was as well as ever in my life. That was a year ago. I'm still in fine shape, as you see. I think Tanlac is the king of all medicines, and recommend it at every opportunity."

Tanlac is nature's own tonic and body builder, made from roots, herbs and barks by the famous Tanlac formula. Try a bottle—it may do for you what it did for Mr. Burton. Your druggist has it. Over 52 million bottles sold.

PROPERTY OWNERS
PAY HALF OF COST
OF STREET PAVINGReach Agreement for Improvement of Street Leading to New Bridges

Neenah—North Commercial-st. between N. Water-st. and Wisconsin-which is to be improved to conform with the new cement bridges over the Fox river by tearing up the present brick pavement and repaving with cement is to be paid for on a 50-50 basis by the city and property holders, it was decided at the Wednesday evening meeting of the council.

All property owners on the street with the exception of one man had signed to go improve the street.
The city attorney stated that this action would not be a precedent as the pavement is not worn out but resurfacing was decided upon to improve the appearance of the street.

Opposition was voiced by Aldermen Laursen and Miller who thought it unfair to charge two-thirds of the expense to the property owner and one-third to the city. They said the property owners on that street should pay the entire cost. It was explained that where pavements in other parts of the city wear out it will be time to charge the property owners for a new pavement but on this particular street it was necessary to conform with the improvements made on that street.

Alderman Herziger moved that the improvement be charged one half to the property owners and one-half to the city. The motion was carried with Aldermen Hanson, Laursen, and Miller voting against it.

A resolution to pave S. Commercial-
st. from Wisconsin-ave. to the city limits with concrete was adopted unanimously. Winnebago-co. will pay for an 18 foot pavement from Division-
st. to the city limits. Property owners along that part of the street will pay for the additional 12 feet. All this and payment of benefits and damages and other preparatory arrangements made by the board of public works were approved.

No changes were made in the salaries of the city officials with the exception of that of the city engineer who will be paid on the day basis and receive $400 per month of public works. The salary of the mayor was fixed at $200 per year; aldermen, each per year, $150; city clerk who is also secretary of the board of health, board of public works and clerk of the waterworks commission, $2,400 per year; office assistant, $800 per year;
city treasurer, $1,500 per year; attorney, $120 per year; physician, $400 per year; poor commissioner, $450 per year; street commissioner, $1,800 per year; assessors per day each of service, $5; board of review, per day each of service, $2; board of registry, per day each of service, $4; inspector of clerks of election per day each, $4; ballot clerks per day, $4 and sealer of weights and measures, per month, $25.00. All voting aye to adopt the resolution except Alderman Marty.

Of the 10 bids submitted for a new ambulance for the city of Neenah, that of the Nash company, for $2,351.50 was accepted and a contract was made. Aldermen Arneimann, Hanson and Stimp opposed the contract.

A request for a 10 per cent increase in the salaries of the police officers was presented by the police and fire commissioners but action was deferred until a later meeting.

A petition from property owners on Harrison-st. asked for a walk on the east side of Harrison-st. between Winnebago-ave. and Monroe-st. and for a walk on the north side of Wisconsin-ave. from the Soo line tracks to Harrison-st.

The finance committee reported on bills amounting to $4,249 which were ordered paid.

BUILD FENCE TO KEEP
FOLKS OFF NEW BRIDGE

Neenah—A fence has been placed at the approach of the center bridge over the canal to keep pedestrians from using the torn up structure for passage between the north and south sides of the city. This action followed the accident Wednesday afternoon in which Mrs. Frank Thakke was seriously injured and pushed into the river when she struck her head against the steam shovel as she was passing along the narrow gang way on her way to work at the Neenah Paper company mill. Orders had been issued on several occasions against using the bridge while under construction. The accident of Wednesday noon was the second in which a woman was knocked into the river.

Over Visitors Wednesday
Evening

Menasha—The local debate squad, in charge of Lester Enns, won a uni-

of both teams did well but Menasha excelled in logical presentation and by the Menasha high school orchestra

CONGRESS IS FACING DISPUTE OVER M'NARY-HAUGEN BILL

SENATOR HOWELL EXPLAINS FACTS REGARDING PLAN

Two Schools of Thought Appear in Struggle to Bring Farm Relief

BY RODNEY DUTCHER
Washington—It appears that the McNary-Haugen farm-relief bill will be voted upon again this year in both houses of congress.

It does not appear that it will become a law.

Farmers understand the bill pretty thoroughly, but to the average citizen it is perhaps only known by name. Hence, it may be interesting to have its principles explained by Senator Robert Beecher Howell of Nebraska, one of its milder proponents and a man qualified by several factors to give such an explanation.

"To begin with," says Senator Howell, "there are two schools of thought. One would repeal or greatly modify the tariff and pull down the other fellow to the farmer's level. The other proposes to raise the farmer to the other fellow's level."

"The second school may be divided into two other schools of thought, one of which favors lifting the farmer by voluntary cooperation and the other by compulsory cooperation. The McNary-Haugen bill is compulsory cooperation and it says voluntary cooperation will not succeed."

TARIFF REGULATES PRICES

"The tariff merely compels everyone to cooperate in paying higher prices and maintaining a higher level. The railroads are compelled to cooperate in maintaining one schedule of rates, fixed by the Interstate Commerce Commission, a price-fixing organization."

"We all have to cooperate to maintain our public schools and systems of government. Industry has been organizing voluntarily. There are 450 cooperating trade organizations—all with the purpose of making more money and increasing profits. Labor cooperates to insure satisfactory wages."

REDUCE SURPLUS LOSS

"Now that there is a surplus of some of our principal crops, the farmer is getting a world price, for the surplus has to be exported and it has to sell at the competitive price which it meets abroad."

"I personally favored trying out the McNary-Haugen bill on wheat alone at first and then applying it to corn, cattle, hogs and cotton after it has been shown that it works. But, of course, the plan now is to make it more extensive."

"Under the McNary-Haugen bill the farmer would get a United States price on four out of five bushels of wheat. The other bushel, if sold by the board handling the surplus, would only command the world price, but the farmer would get the benefit of the tariff on wheat—42 cents a bushel. That is, he would get the world price plus 42 cents on everything under the surplus."

"When he got the world price plus 42 cents he would be getting a fair price as actually already fixed by congress."

"Four out of every five bushels, roughly, are consumed at home and the maximum price would be the cost of laying wheat in New York harbor plus the 42-cent duty."

Her Job Is To Nurse Baby Chicks On Poultry Farm

BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm Writer

West De Pere—The hub in the operation of the Fox River poultry farm, a corporation of which S. Schauer and L. W. Schauer are the principal stockholders, is Mrs. L. W. Schauer.

Eighteen years in the care of chickens in a private way made Mrs. Schauer an expert and prepared her in every way for caring for chickens on the present, large scale. From small beginnings, her private flock grew until it numbered five hundred birds and she was selling eggs and surplus chickens to scores of steady consumers. In fact she is still supplying the needs of customers who tried her out soon after she began raising chickens.

Mrs. Schauer is now light inspector, temperature inspector, feed inspector, ventilation inspector, health inspector and inspector of buildings for a flock of 1,200 chickens on the Fox River Poultry Farm. When necessary, she also acts as physician and surgeon. When a chicken is moping instead of singing and working, Mrs. Schauer finds the cause if she can and removes it. Often a prescription or a surgical operation is the only cure. A few days ago, she picked up a chicken and found its crop packed and distended. She knew that the passage had been blocked by something in the feed. She examined the feed and found fibers similar to those of binder twine. She then made an incision in the crop of the patient, removed the contents of the crop, closed the incision with a needle and silk thread and prescribed a light diet for a time. At this point in the inquiry in reply to a question, Mrs. Schauer said, "When we get orders for chickens or under any other conditions, I never decapitate the birds. I let some one else do that. I never use an edged tool on a live chicken unless I am reasonably sure that its use will save the life of the chicken."

CHICKS NEED CARE

Last summer Mrs. Schauer stayed at home most of the time to take care of the baby chicks. She treats this action lightly in this way: "You know that baby chicks need the constant care of some one who is interested in them and understand them."

Mrs. Schauer is feeding a commercial mash and scratch feed to the chickens on the Fox River Poultry farm. In summer she prefers alfalfa to other grasses. Automatic feed hoppers and warm water, drinking fountains are placed at convenient points in the hen house and the entire floor is a scratch bed. As a result of intelligent feeding, culling and care generally, three-fourths of the flock on the farm have been laying from November to the present time. The hens will be given a short vacation now so that they may be in good condition to supply eggs later for hatching.

On this farm 3,000 White Leghorns, Rhode Islands and Brahams were raised last summer. During last summer, fall and winter 1,000 chickens were marketed and, for some time since, from twenty to thirty chickens are marketed each day. In season, a hatchery at Green Bay takes all the eggs that this poultry farm can produce for breeding purposes. At other times large quantities of eggs are shipped to Chicago markets or disposed of to regular customers. The management expects to put in a large incubator next year and to go into the hatchery business.

The Fox River Poultry farm began operations, building and raising chickens and selling them and their products, last spring. It took the entire summer to erect and equip the buildings and yards.

The main building is one story, 22 by 150 feet. A service room is located in the middle. The rest of the space is wire partitioned into six sections. Light is admitted from the south and through windows on the north under the roosts and floor of the roosts. The roosts are elevated along the north wall of the building. In the middle of each room are automatic feed hoppers and water tanks and the entire floor is a scratch bed. The building is warm, well ventilated and kept clean.

HARVESTER COMPANY HOLDS TRACTOR SCHOOL

Green Bay—The International Harvester company is conducting a series of tractor and binder-twine schools in this vicinity. Schools already have been in two day sessions in Manitowish, Shawano and St. Nazaire, the next one will be opened at Brillenton Tuesday, and another will be held Thursday and Friday at Reedsville. The enrollment of farmers in attendance at the schools is said to be running at 150 to 200. Motion pictures are used at these schools to show each process in the manufacture of the tractor from moulding, the parts to putting on the finishing touches, and the uses of the tractor in moving other farm machinery. The processes of raising the raw material, manufacturing and using the binder twine are shown and explained from beginning to end.

H. W. GLOCKE HEADS FARM ASSOCIATION

Agricultural Organization Sets Fair Dates from Sept 13 to 16

Weyauwega—At a meeting of the board of directors of the Waupaca County Agricultural association, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: President, H. W. Glocke; vice-president, Edw. Munsch; secretary, A. J. Rieck; and treasurer, A. L. Kosauke.

The dates set for holding the 1927 fair are Sept. 13 to 16, inclusively.

At the stockholders' meeting it was decided that the board of directors confer with officials of various breeders' associations in the county, including Holstein, Guernsey and Jersey associations, to make arrangements for county exhibits of stock at the next fair. A meeting was held last Thursday at the board of directors and representatives of the county breeders' association but nothing definite was done.

Another meeting will be held early in April and it is expected that plans will be made then for the stock exhibits at the 1927 fair.

11 HIGH GRADE ANIMALS IN ROLLING MEADOW HERD

BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm Writer

Joseph Ulrich, route 2, 35 Broadway, proprietor of the Rolling Meadow farm, is engaged in dairying as his chief activity with a herd of 11 high grade Holsteins. In the herd are two unregistered purebreds. He is now milking eight cows and is getting 175 pounds of milk daily with a test of 3.5 per cent. At the time of the greatest milk flow last season, he got 300 pounds of milk daily. What he considers his best cow gave 60 pounds of milk daily, testing 3.5 during the best milk period.

Mr. Ulrich is feeding his cows silage, either timothy or the second cutting of alfalfa and a mixture of ground oats, ground barley, one-third bran, cotton seed meal and some mineral.

Mr. Ulrich raised 1 1/2 tons of early cabbage last season and 21 tons of late cabbage, one acre of sugar beets, 9 acres corn, 4 1/2 acres oats, 20 tons of timothy and alfalfa hay, and 4 1/2 acres of barley.

Next season, he will have 9 acres corn, 4 1/2 acres oats and barley each, 5 acres alfalfa, 5 acres timothy, 10 acres wild grass pasture, 3 acres cabbage, and possibly few acres of canning beans. He has four hogs and 100 hens.

Kroehnke To Install New Incubator On Hen Farm

BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm Writer

As one element necessary to the proposed expansion of his poultry-raising business, William Kroehnke, Jr., Richmond-st., will soon install a new, modern incubator with a capacity of 3,500 eggs, which by adding new units can be increased to 4,500.

Requiring two trucks to move it, the incubator is 20 feet long, 4 feet wide and 5 feet high and contains nine hatching compartments, filled with egg trays from which the chicks drop into nursing trays. From a boiler, heated with coal, pipes convey hot water to the incubator. Adjustments of heat and ventilation are automatic. As Mr. Kroehnke has no room in his coop for the incubator, at the present time, it will set up temporarily in his barn.

Mr. Kroehnke says he has been in the poultry-raising business eight years and that he inherited his inspiration from his mother who had been raising chickens on a small scale for years before he tried his hand. It was easy for him to start for he realized that his farm was too small to make dairying, general farming or even gardening pay and that it was large enough to accommodate chicken-raising on a large scale.

A year ago, Mr. Kroehnke wintered 80 White Leghorn hens but in the spring, he bought 300 pedigreed White Leghorn chicks from a Grand Rapids poultry man and 1,100 from a Green Bay hatchery. Sales reduced his flock to 475, the present number. In this flock, he has 300 hens that he intends to use for breeding purposes. The demand for chicks, pooters and news last season gave Mr. Kroehnke the idea that if he had them, he could have sold 20,000. Most of his surplus developed stock went as broilers and roosters to Appleton and Milwaukee markets.

From 475 hens, Mr. Kroehnke got an average of 300 eggs a day last month and the total sale of eggs for the month paid him $38.50. The best week of that month, netted him $107.00 for eggs.

To induce hens to lay in winter, Mr. Kroehnke confines them in a warm coop, well-ventilated and built around a fixed amount of feed. He depends upon results, conditions change into consideration, to suggest a change of rations. Fresh water is supplied by fountains, and light of large windows.

His home-made ration consists of equal parts of bran, middlings, ground oats, ground corn, meat scraps and 2 per cent of cod liver oil.

By the middle of February, Mr. Kroehnke expects to have his new incubator in operation. Already he has orders for 10,000 chicks and has placed orders with other poultry men for the eggs needed for hatching purposes beyond what his own flock can supply. He plans to winter 1,400 hens as a regular thing.

During the past year 1,132,000,000 board feet of timber, an increase of 170,000,000 board feet over any previous year, were cut within the national forests.

On this farm 3,000 White Leghorns, Rhode Islands and Brahams were raised last summer. During last summer, fall and winter 1,000 chickens were marketed and, for some time since, from twenty to thirty chickens are marketed each day. USES SUGAR BEET TOPS FOR SILAGE TO REDUCE COSTS

New Franken Farmer Finds Ration Acts as Good Laxative for Cattle

BY W. F. WINSEY
Special Farm Writer

New Franken—Joseph Schneider, a local dairymen, earned the diploma of the National Dairy association in 1925 and received it recently. The diploma was awarded "in recognition of the achievement of developing a herd of 15 cows to a yearly production average of 356.8 pounds of butter fat."

While Mr. Schneider does not make a practice of exhibiting his purebred Holsteins, dairy and other farm products in county fairs, he realized that of a state crop growing condition sponsored by the agricultural department of the university of Wisconsin and won the prize offered for the biggest yield of corn from two acres. His record was 120 bushels of shelled corn to the acre.

But in a quiet, vigorous effort, he frequently tries experiments on his farm that promise to decrease the cost of production, prevent waste and increase profits. For instance, last season, he put the tops from 5 acres of sugar beets into a special silo and is now feeding small allowance of that kind of silage to his cattle. Thus far, he has not found a way to estimate the feed value of sugar beet top silage but he is positive that it acts as a good laxative and appetizer. After stewing away the beet tops the cattle are eager for the next course in their daily menu.

Next season, Mr. Schneider is planning to economize on the amount of land required to pasture his herd and at the same time to supply more feed for a longer period than is possible where wild grass, June grass or timothy are used. With some nurse crop, he proposes to sow 12 acres of sweet clover and to have an abundance of pasture for his cattle when other grasses are drying up.

But the requirements and development of the dairy industry in all its ramifications absorbs the major portion of Mr. Schneider's time. Twelve years ago, he started in that business with a herd of mixed grades. As he soon realized that, if he was to make dairying pay better tolls were needed, he bought seven purebred Holstein heifers from Reid Maytag, Oshkosh, Wis., and from the Luther Lindsay farm, Kaukauna, and his best herd sire a few years later. The latter, Sir Ormsby Abbecker Korndyke 6th is out of 310 pound dam and 1,227 pound sire formerly owned by the Murphy farm.

From this foundation stock, Mr. Schneider now has a herd of 37 animals, 24 of which are females. He is now milking 17 cows and getting 575 pounds of milk daily. The milk flow does not show much variation throughout the year. He is milking calves from time to time, but no adult animals.

The highest production record of the six best cows in Mr. Schneider's herd are:

PRESIDENT HAS THE FACTS.

The senate has passed the three-cruiser bill by a vote of 49 to 27. Twenty-four Republicans and twenty-five Democrats made up the affirmative vote. Standing with the president in opposition to the naval cruiser construction program were eighteen Republicans, eight Democrats and one Farmer-Labor. Mr. LaFollette voted with Mr. Lefflor to sustain the president. The bill now goes to conference, the house having taken its position with Mr. Coolidge by passing a measure which contained no funds. It remains to be seen whether the house or the senate will yield. Should the house stand its ground, nothing more remains to be done, but if it gives way and a report is agreed upon it is certain the president will veto the bill. It is unlikely that it can be passed over a veto. Therefore, it seems assured that the three additional cruisers construction, already authorized, will not be commenced during the coming year.

Those who are panning the government for alleged unpreparedness and permitting the navy to slump make a great deal of noise, and of course present plausible argument to support their claims. If the question is determined solely by mathematical comparisons, or if the potential dangers which may overtake this country are accepted as real, there is something to be said on the side of competitive armament. Nevertheless, the facts morally and practically are with the president. The world is trying to negotiate for disarmament. The president is trying to further this end. He feels it is the duty of the United States to be a leader in the movement. He also feels it would be inconsistent with our declared purpose and policy to engage in competitive armament under such circumstances.

Furthermore, every sensible American knows that the possibilities of war between the United States and any first-rate power are so remote that they may be safely disregarded for a number of years. In that time we shall know whether disarmament is to take place or not, and whether the measures looking to world peace are to be successful. Should failure become inevitable, it would be time enough to arm, and we must not overlook the fact that we can arm faster and more powerfully than any other nation in the world.

CONGRATULATIONS!

When you pay your nickel for a street car ride, are you paying for just the ride or the view, too? Branson C. Stimmel, an insurance broker of Gotham, thinks that when he pays his nickel he's entitled to the passing landscape as well as a seat. When Stimmel sat down in a car the other day and found an ad pasted on the window near the seat, he got mad and tore it down.

"I paid to see out of this window," said the doughty street-car Don Quixote.

An inspector on the car protested, and Stimmel dared him to arrest him.

He didn't, so Stimmel wrote the street car company a letter and dared 'em, too.

The case, on a destruction of property charge, will be heard in court soon. Stimmel says only the supreme court can stop him. He pays his nickel, he wants his view, and view he shall have!

More power to Stimmel! Any man optimistic enough to relish a view out of a New York street car window is a citizen well worth protecting. We need men of his rosy hue.

BRITISH ACTIVITY IN CHINA.

Reports from China are that the Cantonese government has served notice on Great Britain that it will break off treaty negotiations unless the British cease their concentration of troops and warships at Shanghai. This is to be considered more as a protest than a threat. China has everything to gain by treaty revision and nothing to lose. In fact, the official assurances it has received from both Great Britain and the United States are so broad as to offer the comparatively early emergence of a completely free and independent China. Naturally the Cantonese take exception to Sir Austen Chamberlain's refusal to negotiate with them as the representatives of all China, and to his conducting simultaneous negotiations with the Peking government, but Great Britain has no alternative to this course. Until one of these contending major forces overcomes the other or they compose their differences, there is no national government with which to deal.

In the meantime, Great Britain continues the dispatch of troops and warships to the Orient. One report is that she plans to land twenty thousand soldiers in the international concessions at Shanghai. Nevertheless, in view of Sir Austen's Birmingham declaration, there can hardly be a purpose to use force to maintain the concessions or rights to which the Chinese object. The object must be to protect the lives and property of British nationals. How large an army and how many warships may be required to do this are technically matters which only the ministry at London and its representatives in China are qualified to answer. There is a strong feeling in England that the government is sending forces to China altogether disproportionate to the needs, and that the only effect can be to aggravate Chinese hostility and anti-foreign demonstrations. We cannot blame Great Britain for taking no chances in the protection of life, and if she goes no further than this, serious complications should not arise. What she does with her army and fleet is more important than their mere concentration at Shanghai. The United States is sending warships and men to China also, but it has assured China as emphatically as it could that it has no other purpose than the protection of its nationals.

However the present crisis terminates, the developments of the last week are a practical guarantee of a free China as soon as she can pull herself together and set up a responsible government. It would be tragic if the Cantonese and British troops were to engage in open hostilities, but that contingency can probably be avoided if British acts there are governed by caution and prudence.

OLD MASTERS

THE CALL UNHEARD

I called to her, but she didn't hear
So busy was she at play.
She laughed with the children romping near
And galloped with them away.

I called her name, but she raced along
To the sands of the summer sea
And my voice was lost in the south wind's song
And she said no heed to me.

And I thought as I watched her dancing there
How happy she is today!
'Tis better to give her an hour so fair
Than summon her in from play.

Time was when I called for our Marjorie
And I thought that I called in vain.
But I went of her now by the golden sea
Happy and free from pain.

And I think of her playing with angels fair
From the day dawn to its close.
And my loneliness I have learned to bear
For the happier life she knows.

ALL SCHOOLS CLASH ON THIS

A teacher who says she is afraid of my sarcasm writes that she agrees with many of my teachings, the "cold" idea for instance, but she finds it difficult to keep clean—and if the skin "pores" I agree with the teacher they should be kept clean. In fact I believe one ought to keep the skin clean even if it has no "pores." I have examined a lot of skins, with the naked eye and with the microscope, and I have never found a "pore." A "pore" is a hypothetical or imaginary opening through the skin. There is just one opening in the skin, and that is the mouth or outlet of the duct which carries salty water from the sweat glands and sebum or skin oil from the sebaceous glands to the surface of the skin. It is quite inconceivable, if one has a fundamental or elementary knowledge of the human anatomy and physiology, that anything can ever enter the body or permeate the skin through these outlets of the sweat and sebaceous glands.

Where down or hair grows on the skin the hair shaft or hole in the skin is usually the common outlet of the sweat and sebaceous glands. Where no down or hair grows, as in the skin of the palms and soles, the little depressions representing the openings of these ducts are visible in the pores and furrows which constitute the distinctive or peculiar whorls of thumb prints. On the nose and over the cheeks and forehead the depressions marking these duct openings are usually large and here, particularly, people are prone to call them "enlarged pores."

But this teacher seeks advice about her work. She is a physical instructor in a church school. She asks whether it harms girls of high school age to exercise moderately for about forty minutes each school day, with no interruption of this routine at any time. She herself doesn't believe it does, and she takes that view as a result of her own college training. But her principal is horrified because the physical education teacher expects the girls to take their gymnasium class work just as they do all other class work without interruption. The principal, a woman who received her training in an eastern school, maintains she has the authority of the eastern educators behind her in her determination to coddle the girls, to pinkenize the school morale or spirit, as it were.

This school principal interfering in a field in which she is untrained. She will find, if she specifically inquires among the learned eastern educators, that the physical instructor is quite right in requiring the girls to attend the gymnasium classes regularly and without interruption on the plea that a function is a "sickness." No educator who is an authority can give any support to the pinkenizing principal in her morbid aim or ideal, because experience shows a thousand schools and colleges for women have proved that the policy of this physical education teacher is the best for the health of the young women under her instruction.

Ordinary teachers and principals are too frequently inclined to look upon physical education as a nuisance, but that is because their own education has been sadly neglected. Let no physical instructor submit to the patronizing attempts of such teachers and their readiness to conspire with the scheming pupil to evade and belittle physical education. The physical instructor has a great moral obligation on her shoulders and she must never falter in her duty to the girls under her instruction.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

Egg Versus Steak

A says an egg contains more body building properties than a pound of beefsteak. B claims the steak contains more body building properties than the egg. Please arbitrate. (H. C. J.)

Answer—An egg yields 75 calories and vitamins galore. A pound of beefsteak yields about ten times as many calories (nutritive value, fuel units) but few if any vitamins.

SALUTES AND CEREMONIES.

Washington, D. C. — There have been issued recently new Army regulations on salutes and ceremonies which, while they do not include many actual changes, are in some ways more explicit. To the average civilian military salutes and ceremonies are more or less mysterious but exceedingly impressive, although during the World War so many civilians became soldiers that a larger percentage of the population now has an understanding of just what should be done when the flag passes or when the national anthem is played, than had formerly.

In the new regulations many fine points are elucidated. For instance, in the paragraph telling what officers and enlisted men should do whenever the national anthem or "To the Colors" is sounded, particular instructions are given with regard to those mounted on animals or riding in vehicles. The former will halt and render the salute mounted.

"Vehicles in motion will be brought to a halt. Occupants of vehicles (except drivers) will stand at attention. Drivers will sit at attention. Individuals leading animals or standing to horse will stand at attention but will not salute."

Also in the new regulations what is meant by out of doors, indoors, and under arms is carefully defined. The old rules merely gave instructions regarding salutes out of doors and indoors. It is now explained that drill halls, riding halls, gymnasiums, and other roofed inclosures used for drill or exercise of troops are considered out of doors.

Therefore all officers upon meeting in any such places must salute, the junior first, except in certain specified cases. An officer of whatever rank when making a report to the representative of a common superior, as for instance, the adjutant or officer of the day, will salute first. Salutes are not required when making of receiving an official report. Enlisted men and officers ordinarily do not salute each other when indoors unless they are addressing each other.

SALUTING AN OFFICER.
When an officer enters a room, however, an enlisted man must stand at attention until he leaves or indicates otherwise. When there are more than one enlisted men in the room the first one who sees the officer calls "attention" and the others immediately rise. This becomes practically second nature with men in the service and an example of this is told of several members of the Marine Corps.

These boys had just completed a course which prepared them for commissions and it was only a matter of a few days when they would receive their commissions as second lieutenants. They were, therefore, "situation pretty" and really did not necessarily need to "make character" with any of the officers. A young first lieutenant wandered in thinking to have a chat with them, since they were so soon to become brother officers. Two of them were having a game of chess, one was reading and the third was asleep. As soon as the officer entered the room one of the chess players called "tenshun!" and they all immediately rose, even the one who had been taking a nap.

The various salutes with guns have always been of particular interest to civilians. The national salute, as probably everyone knows, is twenty-one guns and this is also the salute to a national flag. It is provided in the regulations that on July 4 at noon at every military post, which has the proper artillery, there shall be fired a salute to the United States in commemorative of the Declaration of Independence and consists of one gun for each State.

On the 30th of May, Memorial Day, the national flag is displayed at half-staff from reveille until noon at all posts and camps. Just before the appropriate salute is played by the band and at 12 o'clock noon the national salute of twenty-one guns is fired. The flag is then hoisted to the top of the staff.

The President or an ex-president is given the national salute of twenty-one guns upon his arrival and departure from a military camp. The question of just why twenty-one guns was selected as the national salute has long been one upon which the general public has pondered and it is a favorite one with those newspaper editors availing themselves of the various information services.

The tracing of the origin of this number is not so simple as it might sound, but the following explanation has been given:

If you live in the eastern states you may sometimes have noticed a big yellow wasp industriously digging away in an embankment.

She acts very busy and excited, and why should she be? She is making a home for next year's golden digger wasps and there is a great deal to do for her family is large and there must be many rooms and accommodations for all.

After the tunnel, which is several inches deep, and the cells and the side tunnels with their cells are all completed, she has to stock the apartment with food for the grubs which will hatch from her eggs enough rations to last until the grubs are fat and full-grown and ready to enter upon their next form of existence, the chrysalis state.

Her little ones are not vegetarians but meat-eaters, and there is only one kind of food adapted to them—nice juicy cicadas. Cicadas must be secured and they must be served fresh. How is she to do it?

She digs about the trees searching for the cicadas. They are four times as big as she is and to secure one and bear it home is quite a feat. When the lady golden digger wasp pounces upon the cicada there is a wild tumult. This resistance upon the part of the cicada suddenly ceases. The

The digging wasp starting to dig her burrow.

Wasp has stung and paralyzed her victim and the only problem now is to get her game home and safely stored away.

She uses a great deal of strategy to accomplish this, too long to explain here. Finally, however, tired and exhausted, she drags it in to her burrow. And here a horrible fate awaits the poor cicada. After the body is helplessly imprisoned within one of her cells, she deposits an egg underneath the surface of her helpless victim's body.

To the Editor of The Post-Crescent: May I express to you my appreciation of your editorial entitled "U. S. Shows its Friendship" in your issue of Feb. 1.

It seems to me an early recognition of an event which a generation hence may have an important place on the page of world history. China is undoubtedly one of the greatest as well as the most populous countries on the globe. Her place and prosperity are of privacy concern to the world's peace and prosperity. And your discerning editorial will be of real service in helping us citizens of this community support our government in this great act of world friendship. I have had relatives living in China in recent years, in Peking and word received repeatedly from them confirms my belief that this action of our government is not only friendly but wise.

To those of us who have deeply regretted the withdrawal of the federal administration from its position in support of our adherence to the world court, this act of friendship toward and confidence in China is especially welcome. Its effect on other western nations must be great and salutary.

Your reference also to Japan's refusal to join with Great Britain in using force against China is a timely recognition of the friendliness of the Japanese people.

When so much of the American press is stirring up suspicion, fear and hate against Japan, it is a satisfaction to have our own newspapers take a juster and saner view.

Yours truly,
J. E. PEARBODY.

The Question Box

Q. Was last summer's apple crop larger than usual? G. A.

A. The crop was estimated at 231,252,000 bushels. While in but a few states the crop was very heavy, production was above the average in nearly all sections, and the crop was the largest in a dozen years.

Q. Does a copper wire made of a number of small strands have a greater or smaller electrical carrying capacity than a solid wire? J. A. N.

A. The Bureau of Standards says that a stranded wire has less carrying capacity than a solid wire of the same material having the same circumference. A stranded wire offers more resistance per foot than does a solid wire having the same circumference.

Q. What bird is known as the October-bird? W. P.

A. In the West Indies the name is applied to the bobolink.

Q. Will you tell something about trufflers? Are they grown in this country? J. P. B.

A. Truffles are subterranean fungi, and in Europe, especially in France, are collected quite extensively for food. While a few varieties of trufflers or related forms are found growing wild in this country, their cultivation is not a commercial proposition. It is recognized that trufflers grow especially in association with certain oaks and some years ago the Department of Agriculture imported and distributed two or three species of these oaks but the industry has never really been developed in this country. Abroad, in regions where trufflers are abundant, they are collected by aid of a dog or pig, or some animal having a keen sense of smell.

Truffle hunting is an important business and requires considerable experience and knowledge of forests.

Q. Is Notre Dame a Roman school? P. K.

A. It is under Roman Catholic control, but is non-sectarian.

this without regard to the military rank of the commanding officers of the detachment. There can, therefore, be no possible question, as to an Admiral's position in a parade when the Army detachment is led by a mere captain or major. Even with all his rank he does not rate leading the procession!

CUPID'S DAY OF HEARTS IS TIME TO ANNOUNCE YOUR ENGAGEMENT

An appropriate time to tell your friends about your engagement is on Feb. 14, St. Valentine's day. It is the most auspicious time to have an announcement party. The decorations in the house may befit the occasion as well as the day itself. Hearts strung about in every nook and corner of the house will not only add cheer but will speed the message to the young people present.

WAYS OF MATCHING UP PARTNERS

Take plain paper which is cut in the shape of a heart. Write different proverbs upon each one. Several appropriate ones can be found in the works of Shakespeare, Milton or Byron. Next cut the paper heart in two parts, each a different design, so that no two hearts are similar. One half is drawn from a basket by a lady and the other half by the gentleman, from another basket.

Each person present hunts over the rooms for the other part of the heart and when found the proverb should read correctly. This is one way of getting acquainted, and it leaves no "wall flowers" as everyone is obliged to talk to everyone else, to find out who has the other part of the heart. This will also be a great help to not only the bashful girl but also the fellow who has a tendency to stay in the background. It will be necessary that he find his lady.

MATING LOVE BIRDS

Another very clever way to match partners is to do it according to the bird fashion. Also in accordance with the occasion we can say it will be the Love Bird game. As guests arrive at the house, pin upon their backs a name of a bird, one for the lady and one for the gentleman alike, so that after all the guests have arrived, they will find their mates for the various contests. Use all the names of birds mentioned in the contest and if that is not enough, these others will help you: Thrush, Oriole, Wren, Hawk, Bluejay, Pigeon, Bluebird, Sea Gull, Crow, Cardinal, Martin, Crane, Peewee, Warbler and the Redbird.

Each one in the room will have to talk to everyone else while the matching is going on and in this manner the cold February winds will be broken. If they are chilling any one of the party. After the contest is finished, partners exchange papers and the chairman reads the correct answers and they are checked off.

BIRD CONTEST

Games rather than darning for part of the evening are enjoyed. This game will furnish great laughter as well as keeping your guests busily employed in deep-thinking.

The questions should be written down before the time of the party and here they are:

1. What bird has a gay time?
2. Soars the highest?
3. Is of loyalty?
4. Is a household pet?
5. Is always talking?
6. Is accused of stealing?

16. Trims ladies' hats?
17. Is very wise?
18. Is symbol of love?
19. Is untruthful?
20. Is heard in the cloack?

Prizes for the following contest may be a pretty red satin candy box, candy kisses or a carton of cigarettes, for the girl or boy who has the most correct answers. The booby prizes may consist of a few broken chocolate hearts.

Below is the list of questions and answers to be used in the contest, which may be lengthened or shortened at will:

1. Which cake did the schoolgirl buy?
2. Did the society woman buy?
3. Did the grocer buy?
4. The artist?
5. The farmer?
6. The mean man?

15. The gossip?
16. The betrothed couple?
17. Jeweler?
18. The gardener?
19. The tailor.
20. The farmer.

Answers: 1. Composition. 2. Reception. 3. Sugar. 4. Exhibition. 5. Harvest. 6. Sponge. 7. Loaf. 8. Scripture. 9. Feather. 10. Tea. 11. Cream. 12. Cup. 13. Ribbon. 14. Marble. 15. Spice. 16. Wedding. 17. Gem. 18. Hoe. 19. Measure. 20. Corn.

CHILDREN OR CAREER?

BY OLIVE ROBERTS BARTON

WE need to be reminded how well worth while a little child is. In all this discussion of child training, child psychology, new methods of development and so on, we are apt to regard him as we might regard some new and interesting form of beetle tacked up on the professor's desk for inspection.

We talk about careers and children, or other about careers or children, as though a equalled y and there was a choice.

There is no choice. There may be individual preference, or individual necessity, but there is no more choice than there is between a rose and a piece of petit point.

Do you know children? If you don't find a child and make a friend of him. Throw aside your magazines and editorials and bridge hands for an hour and take a lesson in divine trust. Watch a little mind unfolding in the world and you'll learn more than all the wisecracks have written. The wisecracks explain man's prejudice. In the child there is no prejudice.

Do you have children? If you do, stop worrying about them and enjoy them. There is no pleasure in a gem if you think of nothing but its safety and insurance.

Roosevelt in his books of travel speaks over and over again of children. He is never too tired after a day's weary tramp, when jotting down his notes, to mention the "dear little girl" or "fine son" of the innkeeper. His letters to his own children will one day be found in gold.

Eve V. B. Haul, former editor, and noted for her work in developing vocations for children, writes an article in a recent magazine called "What About the Children?" In it she discusses the question of careers.

To me the crux of the whole matter lies in this paragraph: "I know no more important moment in the day," writes Mrs. Hansel, "than that in which my small son comes pelting into the house, shouting for 'Mom' at the top of his lungs. 'What is it?' I answer, thinking about something tremendously important has happened. 'Oh, nothing,' he lets me down. 'I just wanted to know if you were there.' That is it! The mother who chooses a career that keeps her away from this eager little shout misses much.

SAINT AND SINNER

By Anne Austin

Faith divided Saturday and Sunday between the hospital and the jail. Banning, the district attorney, was showing an unexpectedly indulgent attitude toward Cherry, in permitting her father, her brother and her sister, Faith, to see her daily until the grand jury should meet on Monday. Accompanied by Warden Little, who could hardly take his fascinated gaze off the beautiful, cheerful little prisoner, Faith and Cherry walked arm and arm down one of the interminable corridors of the county jail to Cherry's cell, which was mercifully isolated.

"Just look what Bob sent me, the angel," Cherry cried, as the great barred door swung open at the turn of the warden's key. She pointed to the really made bed, its ugly, gray-pointed iron framework almost concealed under fresh, fragrant white linens and woolly blankets, and to the gay, ly colored Czechoslovakian rug which almost completely covered the cold, concrete floor.

"George Pruitt sent these. Aren't they gorgeous?" Cherry darted to a corner of her cell and lifted up a tin bucket holding a great sheaf of long-stemmed, golden roses, whose color exactly matched her strange, golden eyes, now a little too bright with an effort to keep back the tears.

"George is sweet," Faith acknowledged, with a catch of the breath. "And I've got some simply loads of telegrams and letters." Cherry ran on brightly. "Of course the warden opens them first, but—it's wonderful to know that strangers, as well as friends, believe in me."

"Yes, sir, she's the most popular visitor we ever had here," Warden Little backed her up proudly. "We're sure going to miss her."

"Have you seen—Chris?" Faith hesitated on the name. How odd that Chris Wiley was now her brother-in-law, and the husband of this gallant, tearless little prisoner.

Cherry's face tightened, and her eyes became cold and shallow, as if a light had been turned off behind them. "No," she answered briefly. "He's in jail, too, you know. We're not allowed to see each other until—until after Monday." She could not bring herself to say "until after the grand jury meets."

"I ought to visit him," Faith murmured, casting a fleeting glance at the warden, who was pretending not to listen.

"Don't bother," Cherry said with sudden fierceness. "You've got enough to worry about, between Mother and me, darling. Oh, Faith, I don't want to see Chris—again—ever—" Her voice broke on its first sob.

"Don't Cherry, honey," Faith whispered, with another agonized glance at the apparently unheeding warden. "Anything you say now can be used against you."

When she left the cell, Faith took with her the absolute certainty that, no matter if the grand jury exonerated Cherry, the girl's life was ruined. Cherry was sorry that she had married Chris, and Faith knew that the discovery of the murder had had nothing to do with the tragedy of her marriage.

"Now," Faith braced herself to her next task. "I've got to show Mother a cheerful face. I've got to lie and lie. Poor Mother! Poor Cherry!"

SPINE EXERCISE NECESSARY TO KEEP AWAY BUMPS AND HUMPS

CAROL KROUSE SHOWING SPINE STRETCHING EXERCISE.

BY NINON
THERE can be no real beauty without grace and no grace without a healthy, normal spine.

I suppose if we could see our backs and had to see them as we do our fronts we would develop some standard for them. Then if we saw our spine forsaking the straight and narrow, and going in for curves and bumps, we would realize something was wrong.

Now our greatest concern for our backs is that the skin that covers the bony structure be sufficiently white and beautiful to allow us to wear as low cut a gown as we crave. If you analyze the faults of any figure, if you try to account for the bumps or humps that don't belong, if you wonder about jerky unlovely movements, you can trace any or all back to lack of coordination, between the spine and that particular portion of the body.

Your spine, like any other part of your body, will shrink its job whenever you let it. Likewise, it will assume obligations that belong elsewhere.

One of the best, all-around exercises for keeping your spine limbered up is the one illustrated today. Lie flat on the floor with your arms folded across your back. Your legs are not important in this particular exercise, so you can let them lie out flat or point skyward, as you will.

Raise your body as far from the floor as you can. Then raise your head up and then down and then turn it to the right and then to the left. Then roll your head in a complete circle. Then relax completely.

It is extremely important in all exercises that you do not overdo at first and that you do not strain your muscles.

This exercise will relieve the nerve tension at the back of your neck—where you probably carry all your worries, and it also is excellent for the muscles of the stomach and abdomen—it has been known to reduce superfluous flesh in this region quite noticeably.

Now our greatest concern for our backs is that the skin that covers the bony structure be sufficiently white and beautiful to allow us to wear as low cut a gown as we crave.

If you analyze the faults of any figure, if you try to account for the bumps or humps that don't belong, if you wonder about jerky unlovely movements, you can trace any or all back to lack of coordination, between the spine and that particular portion of the body.

Your spine, like any other part of your body, will shrink its job whenever you let it. Likewise, it will assume obligations that belong elsewhere.

One of the best, all-around exercises for keeping your spine limbered up is the one illustrated today. Lie flat on the floor with your arms folded across your back. Your legs are not important in this particular exercise, so you can let them lie out flat or point skyward, as you will.

Raise your body as far from the floor as you can. Then raise your head up and then down and then turn it to the right and then to the left. Then roll your head in a complete circle. Then relax completely.

It is extremely important in all exercises that you do not overdo at first and that you do not strain your muscles.

This exercise will relieve the nerve tension at the back of your neck—where you probably carry all your worries, and it also is excellent for the muscles of the stomach and abdomen—it has been known to reduce superfluous flesh in this region quite noticeably.

MARCH 17, 18, 19 SET AS DATES FOR MID-WINTER FAIR

Hagman Announces Committees at Meeting of Advancement Association

Kaukauna — A resolution was adopted at a meeting of the Kaukauna Advancement association Wednesday evening in the council chambers of the municipal building authorizing the officers of the organization to file papers of incorporation.

W. P. Hagman, general fair chairman, announced March 17, 18 and 19 as the dates for the mid-winter fair. Mr. Hagman said the association would be able to secure the high school buildings at that time. He reported that up until this time there would be many outside high school activities and it would be impossible to secure the auditorium. The date also meets the need of the country people, as it gives them plenty of time to prepare their exhibits. And then there will be plenty of time for advertising the fair and the interest of the people in Outagamie-co can be aroused.

NAMES COMMITTEE

Mr. Hagman named as his executive committee W. P. Hagman, Mayor W. C. Sullivan, B. Prugh, C. E. Raught, J. J. Martens, A. T. Hudson, William Van Leshout, S. J. Berens, John Coppes, Edward Haas, Charles O'Connell, L. C. Fehner, Ernest Landreman, H. T. Runtz, Dr. C. D. Boyd, M. H. Hieson, C. D. Towlesley, R. H. McCarty and Malachi Ryan. In reporting on his committee, Mr. Hagman said that he had picked the chairman for every committee and on some of the more picked several of the committees but he was unable to get all of them. This he expected to have done within a few days.

The committee as announced by Mr. Hagman Wednesday with as many members as have been chosen so far are: Farm exhibits, Malachi Ryan, chairman, Robert Amundson, Charles Grode, Barney Schouten, Ben Bell, James Farrell, William Rohan, John Van de Loop, Peter Kauth and Henry Welhouse; woman's exhibits, in charge of the Kaukauna Women's club; school exhibits, A. T. Hudson and O. G. Dreyer; financial committee, William Van Leshout, L. C. Fehner, advertisement, S. J. Berens, A. Michaels, Alphonse Berens and E. Renniecke; entertainment committee, John Coppes, J. J. Jansen, William Ashe Sr. and J. O. Posson; commercial exhibits, Edward Haas and L. J. Brownell; school booth construction committee, William T. Sullivan, chairman; decorating committee, N. M. Haupt; safety committee, E. R. Landreman; refreshment committee, H. T. Runtz; health clinic, Dr. C. D. Boyd, Miss Mattie J. Hayes, Miss James O'Connell and Miss Jeanine Bell; registration committee, M. H. Niesen, Peter Rann, P. R. Maginnis, N. Heindl and Elliott Zekand; committee on admission, C. D. Towlesley; law and order committee, R. H. McCarty.

GETS COOPERATION

Chairman Hagman reported that he was securing cooperation everywhere and he urged every committee chairman to get to work immediately. He suggested that prize money for exhibits be in cash. According to present plans several grand prizes will be awarded to farmers for the best exhibits.

The association decided not to take any insurance on the fair this year. The action was taken following a lengthy discussion. City Attorney Joseph DeFeere held in an opinion that every member of the association could be held both individually and severally for debts incurred by the association through law-suits. The attorney added that the association could not be held for any debts incurred by any one member of the organization without the authority of the association. Members of the association decided that it would cost too much to take casualty and liability insurance on the fair.

A resolution was adopted cutting the yearly dues of the association from $5 to $1, following a talk by President Prugh whereby he said it was the purpose of the association to accumulate any money. An immediate membership campaign is to be launched. A membership committee consisting of N. Haupt, chairman; E. Haas, Joseph Whitman, M. A. Raught, H. L. Donahue and Gerard Brenzel was appointed.

IF KIDNEYS ACT BAD TAKE SALTS

Says Backache Often Means You Have Not Been Drinking Enough Water

When you wake up with backache and dull misery in the kidney region it may mean you have been eating foods which create acids, says a well-known authority. An excess of such acids overworks the kidneys; their effort to filter it from the blood a day becomes a sort of paralyzed and log. When your kidneys get sluggish and clog you must relieve them, like you relieve your bowels, removing all the body's urinous waste, else you have backache, sick headache, dizzy spells; your stomach sour, tongue is coated and when the weather is bad you have rheumatic twinges. The urine is cloudy, full of sediment, channels often get sore, water salts and you are obliged to seek relief two or three times during the night.

Earlier consult a good, reliable physician at once or get from your pharmacist about four ounces of Jad Salts; take a tablespoonful in a glass of water before breakfast for a few days and your kidneys may then act fine. This famous salts is made from the acid of grapes and lemon juice combined with lithia, and has been used for years to help clean and stimulate sluggish kidneys, also to neutralize acids in the system, so they no longer irritate, thus often relieving bladder weakness.

Jad Salts is inexpensive, can not injure and makes a delightful, effervescent lithia-water drink. Drink lots of soft water.

Goodyear's new Balloon tire for Fords and Chevrolets

Ever since Balloon Tires were introduced, Goodyear has been experimenting with tread designs to develop a tread which would match the Goodyear Balloon Carcass made of Supertwist Cord.

Eighty different treads have been tried within the past two years and hundreds of thousands of miles run on test cars.

Finally, out of all these tests has come the new tire shown above.

It is the famous Goodyear All-Weather Tread scientifically redesigned for Balloon Tire use.

The first big advantages of this new tread are traction and resistance to skidding.

The sharp-edged diamond-shaped blocks are placed in a semi-flat design so that they not only grip the road but they retain their usefulness longer than any non-skid tread ever before tried.

The second big advantage is long, slow, even tread wear as opposed to the "cupping" and uneven wear so noticeable on many other Balloon Tires.

And with these virtues of traction, non-skid and long wear this new tread is perfectly quiet and does not produce the vibration of many non-skid designs.

With the Goodyear Supertwist Carcass and the new Goodyear Balloon All-Weather Tread, you have the safest, longest wearing, most trouble-free tire Goodyear has ever produced.

We have this new tire in the 29x4.40 size for Fords and Chevrolets. Come in—see it—you'll want it right away.

29 x 4.40 only $13.80

of girls and young women, who day after day leave their homes and families to seek fame and fortune in the great cities?

Of course it would be an impossibility to give any one answer to cover all the various situations covered in this question but a most comprehensive answer which is a composite of a great many cases is to be found in "A Little Girl in a Big City" at the New Bijou Friday and Saturday.

The producers have taken the hypothetical case of Mary Barry a pretty girl from a small town, who wins a magazine beauty contest. She leaves her home and is welcomed in the magazine office by Cortelyou, the publisher, who paints a rosy picture of the bright future that lies before her. Mary is elated but her happiness is short lived when she learns that Cortelyou is nothing more or less than

Peterson's Ointment Ends Agony of Piles

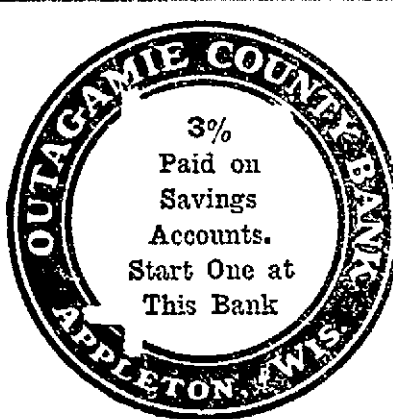

"Live and let live is my motto," says Peterson of Buffalo. "Druggists all over America sell PETERSON'S OINTMENT for 35 cents a large box and I say to these druggists, if anyone buys my ointment for any of the diseases or ailments for which I recommend it and are not benefited, give them their money back."

"I've got a safe full of thankful letters testifying to the mighty healing power of Peterson's Ointment for old and running sores, eczema, salt rheum, ulcers, sore feet, broken breast, itching scalp, chafing and blind, itching and bleeding piles."

T. G. Rokstrom, of 308 Loraine Street, Detroit, writes: "I suffered with piles for over 23 years—nothing did me any good. After my fourth box of Peterson's Ointment, I am nearly cured. It is the greatest ointment I ever heard of."

As a result the demand has grown to very large proportions. Let it do for you what it does for your friends—for people all about you. Reduce to your normal weight. All druggists supply Marmola at $1 a box. Each box contains a pamphlet explaining the results. Go try it. You will be delighted.

APPLETON HIGH TO COMPETE IN STATE FREE THROW MEET

Five Boys, Five Girls From Local School Will "Throw" In State Event

Contest Must Be Held at Regularly Scheduled Game: Many Prizes

Five boys and five girls of Appleton high school will represent the school in the Third Annual State High School Free Throw Contest which will be held again under the auspices of the University of Wisconsin. It will be the first time that Appleton competitors have entered the contest, though several other Valley conference schools were in the meet the last two years. Last year Manitowish high school's teams finished near the top in the contest, according to reports from the Ship city, and two years ago Joliet, New London high school was high up in the individual event.

All throwing must be done on the date of a regularly scheduled high school basketball game. The throwing must be done while a crowd is assembled for such regular basketball game, probably during the half or before the game. Both boys and girls must throw before the crowd. Throwing must be done on one of the following dates, each team to select its own dates: Feb. 15, Feb. 23 or March 4. Appleton will have to carry on its contest on March 4, the evening of the East Green Bay game, as it is the only one of the three dates that the Orange plays here.

The principal must send to George Berg at the University gymnasium, Madison at least five days before he desires to have his contestants throw a list of those who are to compete. The results must be certified within 72 hours after the actual throwing to George Berg. Each certification, which will be made on a blank furnished by Mr. Berg, must be accompanied by the regular W. I. A. A. eligibility list and contain the information on all contestants.

No school, team or individual whose eligibility is not certified with the report will be considered in the final award. A number of worthwhile prizes will be awarded. Certificates as well as boys are allowed to compete by the Board of Control because the meet is held in the home gymnasium. With the regulations outlined above the highest possible plane and eliminate as far as possible the questionings which usually come after a meet of its kind.

The team winning the event will receive a large silver cup of beautiful design. The state team champion is the team, five boys or five girls from the same high school, whose total individual goals count most, each receiving 50 trials. The cup will go to the school having the champion team of girls or boys and members of the team will receive individual medals.

The state individual champion is the boy or girl making the most goals in 50 trials. Medals will be awarded the boy or girl individual champion. Players shall have 50 trials at one "throwing," or two "throwings" consisting of 25 trials each, all to take place in one evening. Regular basketball rules shall govern details concerning basketball, goal and throwing line. All who desire to compete must be eligible under the rules of the W. I. A. A. Under no condition can a second trial be given. After notice of the date for competition has been filed and the names submitted, the contest must actually be held on that date.

Local school authorities have not announced how the five girls and five boys composing the Orange teams will be chosen, but it is probable that elimination contests will be held in the gymnasium classes and among the varsity players.

KOHLER CAGE FIVE NEXT K-C HOME FOE

Loose's Speedboys at Kimberly in 2 Weeks; 3 Games Away Next Week

Kimberly — Louie Loose and his Kohler basketball team will be the next State League hurdle that the Kimberly team will have to face on the home court. The fastest passing team in the circuit, as the Kohler squad is called by the Lake Shore papers gave the speedy West Bend team a 50 to 31 drubbing at Kohler. In other State League games, Port Washington took two beatings at the hands of Sheboygan and Manitowish by a 32 to 17 and 24 to 26 scores. Manitowish with the late additions of the Logan twins looms as a threat to the Kohler leaders. These two fellows working together at forward berths should run the score up on any of the teams.

Fond du Lac took a beating at the hands of the Plymouth team, 21 to 16. Next week Kimberly has three games all away from home, playing on Wednesday at Two Rivers, on Friday at Kenosha and on Saturday at Port Washington. The Port Washington game will be the last for the Kimberly team before the important Kohler struggle. A dance will be given after the Kohler game.

RAJAH MAKES PLANS FOR PENNANT CHASE

Former Card Manager Unworried by Litigations Totalling $76,000

St. Louis, Mo.—(P)—Roberts Hornsby, second baseman and captain of the New York Giants, second largest stockholder and a director of the St. Louis Cardinals, and defendant in three suits totaling $76,000 said Thursday he was more interested in the 1927 pennant race and his own batting record than in the outcome of all this litigation.

He predicted the Giants would win the pennant and he would be near the top in National League batting.

"I'm not worried about all this mess," he said. "It's a natural for suckers to try to get a slice of your dough when they hear you're getting a good salary."

He said he expected to be able to sell his Cardinals stock at a fair price. William Fahey, Hornsby's attorney said he was considering a suit to compel Sam Breadon, Cardinal president and controlling stockholder to declare back dividends on the 1,167 shares held by Hornsby, but he would have another conference with Breadon and make further efforts to find a buyer before taking action.

HELEN PEEVED

San Francisco—Suzanne Lenglen's recent statement that Helen Willis was getting too fat to play good tennis, has stirred up the fighting spirit of America's premier woman player.

NEW STARS GRACE TRACK FIRMAMENT

Comparative New Comers Shut Out Champions in Indoor Track Meet

New York—(P)—New stars gleamed Thursday in the indoor track firmament.

Paul Harrington, competing for the Boston A. A., lifted his slim body and streaming blonde tresses to new indoor world record heights in the pole vault at the Milrose A. A. games in Madison Square garden Wednesday night.

Nelson Sheridan was exceeded 5/8 of an inch by Harrington.

Sheriff, jumping for the Penn A. C. cleared 12 feet 3 inches. The various records of Charles Hoff, who vaulted 13 feet 5 1/2 inches last year have never been accepted by the Amateur Athletic Union.

Charles Major, Negro high jumper from St. Bonaventure College, scissored over 6 feet 5 1/2 inches. Harold Osborn, world champion, could not lift himself above 6 feet 1 inch.

Three of America's sprint champions fell before comparative new comers. Ernest Morrill of Boston University whipped through the 40-yard dash preliminary with Frank Hussey of Boston College at his heels to shut out both Loren Macchison, indoor sprint king for three years, and Jackson Scholz, Olympic champion at 200-meters.

Al Miller, of Harvard, took the measure of Henry Russell, 1925 intercollegiate champion in the 60-yard dash, with Bob McAllister, national 100 yard champion five years ago, a bare qualifier.

Miller then completed the parade of new talent by announcing the 50-yard climax in 8 3/5 seconds with Hussey second and McAllister third.

Leo Lermund of the Boston A. A. stepped the two mile race in 9 minutes and 18 2/5 seconds.

FOUR APPLETON MEN HANDLE CAGE MEETS

Wright, Gebhart at Monroe; Witte, Shawano; Christoph, Watertown

Four Appleton men will handle the whistle as referees at district basketball tournaments of the Wisconsin Intercollegiate Athletic Association, which will be held in March, according to a report issued by P. F. Neumann, secretary of the association, and head of the tournament committee.

Wright and Gebhart, will work together, handling the Monroe district meet. Wright was at Stevens Point last year and at Oshkosh the year before, while it is Gebhart's first trial. Witte works at Shawano, which is taking the place of Marinette, since the Valley conference withdrew from district meets. He has as a mate Walter Hunting, Stevens Point Normal school coach and former Lawrence college football ace. Christoph works at Watertown, with A. C. Doehling, Ripon college grid mentor. Last year Doehling and A. C. Denny of Lawrence worked at Marinette.

The Menasha district, formerly Appleton, has two high class men in Allen Davey of Marinette, former Wisconsin star quarterback and a Valley conference official, and Robert Koefor, former Oshkosh normal cage star and coach and now coach at Ripon. Other Valley conference officials in tournaments are Westfall, who handled the Fondy-Appleton game last week, at Marshfield and Danielson at Kewaunee. W. F. "Bill" Waterpool, former Lawrence college star and Kaukaun' high school coach, is at the Oshkosh tourney.

Teams for district No. 4 meets of which the Menasha turnney is a part, will be picked from records sent in at a meeting at Madison on Feb. 19. V. G. Darnes, of Madison is district chairman and tourneys a. at Oshkosh, Menasha, Monroe and Watertown. Tourney heads who will meet at Madison to select their teams are

REGULAR TEAMS START ROLLING AT RACINE

Racine—(P)—The Plastering Five plastered the maples in the state pin meet Wednesday night for a 2,714 total and moved into third place among the booster teams.

J. Nizzie, anchor man for the plasterers, collected 644 pins on games of 187, 201 and 256. His 256 game is the third highest single game rolled to date and his 644 total puts him in a tie for third highest three game total. H. Groenke, captain of the Racine Filling station five rollers, a perfect gutter ball collected 237 on three games—34, 53, 60. No other rollers were broken as a result of Wednesday's bombardment.

The first two-men events and first individual events of the annual classic were rolled at 4 o'clock when five Racine rollers took the drives. L. P. Purnow, a member of the Journal News regulars, lead the all events with thirty. Thirty booster teams rolled Wednesday including ten Hartmann Trunk teams of Racine, and ten teams from Gimble's of Milwaukee.

Forty E. M. B. A. squads will occupy the drives Thursday night, thirty from Milwaukee and ten from Kenosha.

Singles and doubles will also be rolled during the day.

MAULIFFE NOW STARS WITH BELOIT FAIRIES

John "Mac" McAuliffe, former Beloit college cage star and Appleton high school coach, who plays here with the Swendson Fords of Milwaukee next week, is starting for the fifth squad with which he has played this year. Mac played with the Fords, Dasing Sports, Rockford Burrs, Sheboygan and now is working at center with the Beloit Fairies since Dukes Duford went to the hospital and Stonebreaker is back at Fort Wayne, Ind. In a trip through the north last week, Mac scored seven baskets against the Kimberly-Clark cagers of Niagara, who defeated

APPLETON BOYS IN MADISON ICE MEET

W. Bell, P. Sharp, Roemer to Race Sunday; Others Also May Go

Appleton will be represented by at least three of its star skaters at the district skating tournament at Madison next Sunday and two or three others may attend the event. Percy Sharp, 1924 city champion and 1925 class A champ, Robert Roemer, 1927 city champion, and Walter Bell, are set to make the trip with Clement Kitzinger, 1925 city champ and 1927 class A titlist, and one or two others undecided. Robert Roemer will represent the Interlake Pulp and Paper Co., at the races, with his expenses paid by the company. Roemer is a member of the Interlakes Sons, an athletic club sponsored by the firm, for sons of its employees and he will carry its colors into the races.

Sharp won the class A title in a close finish with Kitzinger last year and "Kitty" returned the compliment this year. At the Green Bay races Sharp again beat the other local lad in a close finish and the battle at Madison is sure to be another "hummer" if Clem can make the trip. Other prospects for the trip are Henry Hammer, a senior winner this year, Al Gosha and Bruno Bell, also senior race winners in past Appleton tourneys. If five men make the trip a five-man team may accept the challenge of the Madison State Journal's crack five-man relay squad.

ed the Kimberly squad, and added five more against Norway, Mich. This week playing against Norway again and watched by two men, he dropped three rings.

Stuelke, all-Midwest guard from Coe the year Mac was all-Midwest center from Beloit, guarded him at Niagara.

Sixty Million Persons Watched Ball Last Year

New York—Minor league baseball, with 29 different leagues furnishing amusement to fans in 200 different cities throughout the United States and Canada, has, during the past few years grown into tremendous business. A survey of facts and figures compiled by Mike Sexton, president of the National Association, gives the baseball fan a little insight into the great growth of minor league ball.

Many fans there are who barely consider leagues other than that of which their particular city is a member. But a glance through Sexton's figures shows that the minor leagues furnish employment to over 6,000 players every summer at salaries ranging to over 6,000 players every summer at salaries ranging from $175 a month up.

In the 1926 season an approximate total of 30,000,000 fans paid to witness minor league games. Sexton estimates that a grand total of $14,500,000 was paid in at the gate. He places the total attendance in organized baseball, including both major and minor leagues, at 60,000,000.

Government figures show that the United States lost $1,500,000 baseball revenue the first year it removed the war tax on 75-cent admission tickets. Formerly, the government collected that sum annually from the minor leagues alone in war tax. All of which goes to show that enough pennies put into one big pot will make quite a fancy sum of money.

Putting the average pay of the minor league player at $300 a month, and that's very conservative, minor league players are annually paid $1,800,000 in salaries.

Buffalo, N. Y.—(P)—In the opening events Wednesday night of the National Women's Swimming championships of the A. A. U., Adelaide Lambert of New York, the record champion, set a new world's record when she won the 300-yard medley swimming championship. FRIDAY GAMES APPLETON AT OSHKOSH Sheboygan at W. Green Bay Fond du Lac at Marinette Manitowish at E. Green Bay

Coach Joseph Shield's Orangecolad Appleton high school cage squad, which has split even in the conference race to date, has a chance of climbing into third place above Sheboygan Friday evening by beating Oshkosh at Oshkosh. Sheboygan plays West Green Bay at Green Bay and the Purple Baymen are becoming a tougher team to beat each day. On the home floor the dope may be upset by the Bays though the Chairs are a favorite on paper.

The Bays also will tie for third above Sheboygan by a win as they now are tied with Appleton and this would send the Chairs down to fifth. With this in view the Baymen will work extra hard for a win. Last week the Purple, with Herbert starring, beat Oshkosh badly and the week before they upset the dope by whipping East's at that time strong crew. Their losses were to Fondy by only a few points and a surprise at Marinette. With Herbert and Quinn in form they are one of the hardest crews in the conference to trim as Herbert is a stellar player.

Manitowish and Fondy should have little trouble holding their top berths as the Ships taken on the weakened East Green Bay squad in a return battle after whipping them badly last week, and Fondy plays Marinette, another weak sister. If Sheboygan beats best Appleton will be alone in fourth.

Appleton plays Oshkosh and unless the Orange improves over its last two conference games the dope is liable to be upset at the Sawdust city. The home crew always puts up a harder game before its friends and expects to lead at football and basketball suddenly breaks loose to whip a leading contender, after a bad start. In football Manitowish and Marinette, conference champ, felt the sting of its blows near the close of the season after it was considered far outclassed by both.

Loiz, Reetz and Johnston probably will work at the forwards at Oshkosh with Laird at center, and Kunitz and Steinberg at guards. Moore also may be used at guard while Murphy and Catlin are working well at forwards. Meffert, tried at forward for the first time against Kaukauna, now is ready as a reserve at either guard, his old job, forward or center. He scored three baskets Tuesday evening at forward. "Curley" Pugh, star Oshkosh forward, is back in the lineup after a short illness and the Orange guards will have plenty to do watching him. Pugh can drop in from any place on the home floor.

SHIPPERS BOARD WILL MEET JULY 13 AT GREEN BAY

Date Is Announced at Twelfth Meeting of Organization at Chicago

The thirteenth regular meeting of the Mid-West Shippers Advisory board will be held in Green Bay on July 13, 1927.

Information to this effect was received by R. F. Mallia, secretary of the association of commerce, in a telegram from H. J. Laubenstein, traffic commissioner of the association of commerce, who is in Chicago participating in the twelfth meeting of the organization. The decision to meet in Green Bay was reached after a very spirited competition among the score of cities who are anxious to have the conference because of its importance and value. Green Bay won out after a spirited appeal by Mr. Laubenstein. Green Bay's importance in the transportation world was a decisive factor as well as this city's comforts and pleasures which are so prominent in July.

The Mid-West Shippers Advisory board is one of the most important groups in the entire transportation field. In territory it covers Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Indiana, and Michigan, and is participated in by farmers, even though he took out his first papers two years before that time.

Hearings on petitions for citizenship are held here twice annually. The petitions must be filed with the clerk 90 days before the date of a hearing. Failure to comply with this regulation will necessitate a postponement of his hearing for another half year.

Declarations of intent to become citizens of the United States were taken out by nine aliens last month, Mr. Shannon reported.

The board is a point of contact between the railroads and shippers, and one of the prime purposes is to ascertain the extent of shipping facility demands in each major industry. Specifically, it is a Board of Survey to forecast transportation conditions for the ensuing six months. The session which closes today in Chicago made its forecast of the conditions anticipated up to the Green Bay meeting in July, and the Green Bay meeting will forecast the conditions up to next January.

The present meeting in Chicago was attended by over 700 representatives from the railroads and various businesses in the states in the district, and it is expected that the attendance in Green Bay will be fully as large, if not larger. The Association of Commerce will arrange the program for the conference and for the meeting of the directing board and

The Fun Shop

The castaway, with a cry of joy, seized it and opening it wide, propped it up against a tree trunk. Then, with one eye on the paper, he began devouring the food, ravenously.

"Now I can eat," he muttered. "I can eat in peace. For twenty years before the shipwreck I ate in lunch-rooms, and the habit was too strong."

"DON'T GIT DISCOURAGED.
YOUNG FELLER, I LEARNED
ON ONE O' THEM."

Judgment

Marion: "How about Dorothy's fiancé?"

Lois: "She thinks he's an Apollo. Her people think he's an apology."

—C. A. Bolton.

The farm vote will keep the country dry, according to political conjectures. The hick against the "hic."

A MEAL AT LAST!
By Thomas E. Singer
The shipwrecked man was but skin and bones when the rescuers found him.

"At old Ellis Island the big liner stops
While they 3rd degree Heinies and Pollocks and Wops;
A native can land wath the shurt on his back,
But they send bacchanalian uniers he has jack!"

him, and it was evident that he had not eaten for weeks. Yet a great pile of food was stacked near him—canned beans, salt fish, cocoanuts, crackers and vegetables and fruit.

"You look as though you've been starved one of the party asked."

"I have been, I have been," groaned the castaway.

"But all this food—"

"Never mind," croaked the starving man. "Give me a newspaper, quick! A newspaper! Oh, has anyone a newspaper?"

To explain of the rescuers felt in his pocket.

"Here," he said, in amazement. "Here's a paper."

Shocking!

Norton: "I see by the papers where an explorer claims Eve is buried in a tomb located in the little town of Jiddah, on the Arabian coast of the Red Sea."

Holmes: "Stolen."

Norton: "He shouldn't have made it public."

Norton: "Why keep the secret?"

Holmes: "Because, when they discovered King Tut's tomb, all the women wore King Tut dresses. Now, if this man goes and unearths Eve's—well, you can see for yourself!"

A PIMPLY SKIN NEEDS SULPHUR

Apply Sulphur as Told When Your Skin Breaks Out

Any breaking out of the skin on face, neck, arms or body is overcome quickly by applying Mentho Sulphur. The pimples seem to dry right up and go away, declares a noted skin specialist.

Nothing has ever been found to take the place of sulphur as a pimple remover. It is harmless and inexpensive. Just ask any druggist for a small jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur and use it like cold cream.
